Foreword

One never knows what the future may have in store. Who knows but some "Moon Shooter" may be within the cover of this volume of The Log!

We hope we have included something that will bring satisfaction for the present, and cherished memories later.

We realize there are imperfections in our book, nevertheless, we have enjoyed the experience.

To you, our friend, we pass it on, and with it, our sincere thanks to all who have given a helping hand.

MR. M. G. TALTON, JR.

To one who through the years has served so well,
And guided us along our way,
We'd like to express our thanks, Mr. Talton,
On this our graduation day.

You've had a task with Math owr brains to fill,
And perhaps we have not done our best;
But with patience and interest you've worked with a will
To help us face problems that will be in life's test.

Boys in athletics you've directed so fine, Teaching them always fair play there must be. Rejoice in victory; o'er defeat never pine; Marks of good sportsmanship ever you'd see.

In school, at play, and in Sunday school, too,
You've tried to inspire us to set our goal high;
Teaching success is not labeled just for the few;
Ambition can be reached if only we try.

How much upon you we'd like to bestow
In appreciation for your kindness that's due.
But a small token of our love and respect may you know
As we dedicate our volume of The Log to you.

MR. FRANK W. SPEED

IN MEMORIAN

In the passing of Mr. Frank W. Speed, the Oxford Orphan age, its staff of workers, and children have lost a friend sincere and true. In his quiet and unassuming manner, he was most conscientious, cooperative, and devoted to the service of the institution, and on the campus, his patience, kindness, and genial spirit will ever be linked with his name.

Beyond Life's Dim Horizon

Beyond life's dim horizon

Is a happy, peaceful land

Where travelers are welcomed

By a loving, outstretched hand,

And every weary traveler

Finds a wonderful new life

That's free from every heartache

And every care and strife.

For here he meets the Master

And his heart is filled with peace—

Beyond life's dim horizon

Where his joys will never cease.

MRS. ELIZABETH WOODRUFF

IN APPRECIATION

The unrichment of lives should be one of the chief aims of a counselor. This was truly the keynote of the life and activities of Mrs. Elizabeth Woodruff, while a member of the Oxford Orphanage staff. She became counselor of Fourth Girls Cottage on August 15, 1943, and remained in that position until her retirement, June 1, 1957. During those years she guided and inspired the older girls on the campus.

She ever sought to imbue "her girls" with a spirit of integrity, honor, thoughtfulness for others, true politeness, unselfish devotion to duty and a real appreciation of beauty and the finer things of life.

Those who have had the pleasure and privilege of associating with Mrs. Woodruff feel that her efforts have paved the way and opened many doors to a fine type of womanhood.

Still alert and delightfully youthful in attitude, she is enjoying her retirement and the visiting in the homes of her four fine children: Martha Sue, in Charlotte; Frances, in Concord; Billy, in Winston-Salem; Rebecca, in Durham, and David, who is an Episcopal rector in Asheboro.

Robinson 1 M Upperclassmen Bobby Bradshaw, Jerry Strum and Frank McM far visit with Mis and the boys They, too, once lived in the cottage.

IN APPRECIATION

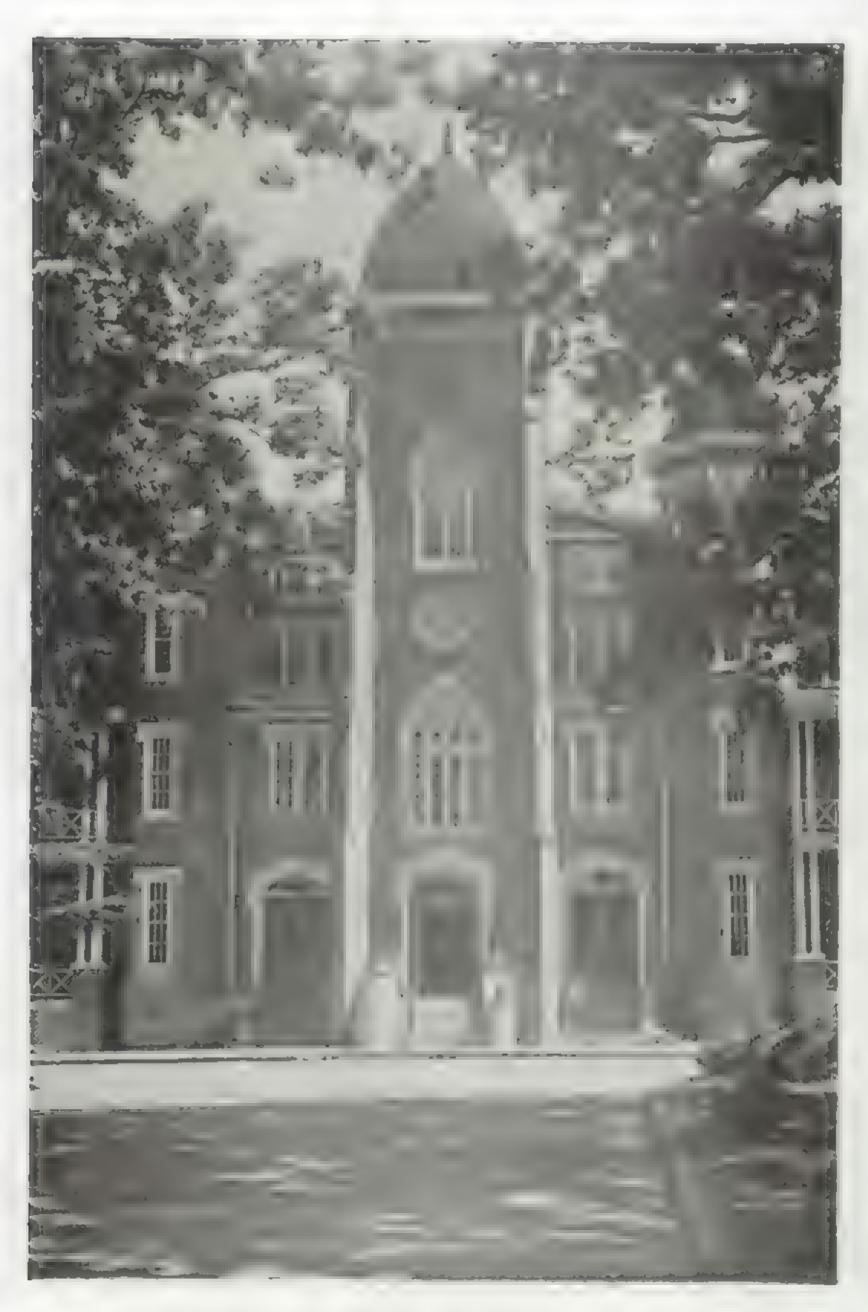

In 1924 Mrs. Katie P.: Robinson came to the Oxford Orphanage as counse.or for the First Boys Cottage. At that time, there were many of the smaller boys as well as many who were in high school living in the cottage. From the beginning, she proved herself most capable and efficient in the work.

Hundreds of boys have gone forth into the world and have become some of the best and finest citizens to be found anywhere. From all who have lived under her supervision, praises will flow for now that they have grown into manhood, they are most appreciative and conscious of her untiring interest in them in their earlier days. Her influence for the right surely will live on in the hearts and minds of those with whom she was associated.

In the last several years, the children in her cottage were within a particular age limit of younger boys. They loved and respected her.

Having been a mother of two outstanding sons, she knew and understood boys, and tried to direct their steps toward a richer and more abundant life.

She retired November 30, 1957. In her retirement we wish for her much happiness all along the way.

A LANDMARK IN THE LIFE OF NORTH CAROLINA 1855-1958

ST. JOHN'S COLLEGE OR THE MAIN BUILDING

As early as the year 1838 the Grand Lodge of Masons of North Carolina was considering the establishment of a "Masonic Seminary". The year 1850 found the Grand Lodge in position to take definite action as to the location of the school. After deliberation, Oxford, N.C. was chosen. A committee consisting of John Gray Bynum, John A. Lillington, and P. H. Winston, was appointed to prepare and publish an address explaining the course of instruction and system of education proposed.

The committee urged that something of astronomy, natural philosophy, chemistry, geology, electricity, and galvanism should be taught, but that a larger emphasis should be placed upon architecture, the power of steam and its application to machinery, various processes of manufactures, metallurgy, natural history, and engineering.

At a time when there were only sixty-five lodges in the state, an agent was appointed to solicit funds for the establishment of the college. St. John's College was decided as the name for the institution.

In 1853 E. H. Hicks deeded to the Trustees of St. John's College a tract of land containing 109 acres near the corporate limits of the town of Oxford. The purchase price was $4,480.

In 1855 the Trustees awarded to John Berry, of Orange County, the contract for the brick work on the building at $11,106, and to J. N. Holt, of Warren County, the contract for the wood-work at $11,394, at a total cost of $22,500.

On June 24, 1855, the anniversary of the birth of Saint John the Baptist, the corner stone of the structure was laid with appropriate ceremonies by the Grand Lodge.

Report was made by the Trustees of the College to the Grand Lodge in December 1857, that the building had been completed at a cost of $23,000 and that $13,000 of this amount was still unpaid.

The dimensions of this building are interesting: "The building is 122 feet by 40 feet, the center is 63 feet, is four stories and a basement, contains 53 dormitories, a Chapel 40 feet by 60 feet, four recitation rooms, two society rooms and other rooms for chemical and other purposes. The four rooms suited for the accommodations of professors were provided each with a fire-place. A spacious chapel was provided, with a gallery around it, capable of seating conveniently 1200 persons."

The doors of the College were opened July 13, 1858, with Prof. Ashbell G. Brown, a distinguished educator, in charge, and Mr. James Campbell, assistant. The institution was for male students only. The management of the institution was changed several times without result and the troubles of the College never came to an end. It was converted from one type of school to another, without success.

In 1860 it was suggested that St. John's College be made a military school, and as the war broke out, the College suspended its operations.

At the close of the war, Mr. John H. Mills, who was conducting a female school in Oxford, made arrangements to move into the building and had contemplated purchasing the same. He abandoned the idea, and in 1868 the property was sold under mortgage held by Capt. John Berry and was bought by the Grand Lodge of Masons for the sum of $7,000. An effort was made in 1871 to arrange for re-opening or to lease the property. This failed and a caretaker moved into the building until further disposition could be made. Thus the story of St. John's College closed in a record of failure, but not until the Masons of the State had placed themselves in the ranks of the pioneers of education in North Carolina.

In 1872 there was a tie in the casting of votes to sell the building and Grand Master John Nichols cast the deciding vote against the sale. The question, "What shall we do with it?", then arose but remained undecided. Mr. John H. Mills, who may be called the "Father of the Orphanage" introduced a resolution to convert St. John's College, called the Main Building, into an orphanage, and in ten minutes the resolution was carried by a unanimous vote and Mr. Mills was placed in charge of the work.

Since the conversion of St. John's College into the Main Building, or the Orford Orphanage, as known then, there have been nine superintendents: Mr. John H. Milis, Reverend B. F. Dixon, Reverend J. T. Harris, Dr. W. S. Black, Mr. N. M. Lawrence, Col. W. J. Hicks, Mr. R. L. Brown, Reverend C. K. Proctor, and Reverend A. D. Leon Gray.

The Main Building, for over eighty years, was the center of life for the Oxford Orphanage.

There was a time when the superintendent lived in a part of the building, for there was no other provision for living quarters; there was also a time when a large number of smaller children lived in this building, for there was no cottage for them; there was the time when it provided the only classrooms for school, for John Nichols School was not completed until 1925. After the school was moved to the new building, the second and third floors were remodeled for rooms for the lady members of the staff.

On the first floor, one would find offices for the case worker, and in former days, that of the lady Supervisor, Miss Nettee N. Hemis, the posterfice, the pain's visitor's room, reading rooms for the staff, "the candy corner," and parlors. The chapel was a most any offact and any antiterian for years. Here thousands throughout the years, enjoyed various proferms and assemblies. Religious training given and received in this one room has without doubt placed its stamp on worthy citizenship in North Carolina.

The fourth floor, when no longer required for living conditions, was used as storage space for clothing, until the Duke liu.ding was elected, that the legal timent was transferred.

This Main Building no longer exists in material form, but there are memorics associated with it that will long be cherished. Often one is lauded for his life of service and good deeds. This building is deserving of similar praise, in its way, for it has made pess ble the means for greater contributions and finer development of the boys and girls in the Oxford Orphanage.

Here character has been built and lasting friendship made!

MR. THOMAS B. CURRIN

Principal of John Nichols School

When school opened September 5, 1957, it seemed strange not to see Mr. E. T. Regan in the principal's office—a position which he had held for fourteen years. Since his duties as assistant superintendent of the Oxford Orphanage required full time, it was necessary that another principal be elected.

From the many applications that were filed in the City Superintendent's office, John Nichols School was most fortunate in having Mr. Thomas B. Currin elected as Mr. Regan successor. Previously, he had been a member of the faculty, thus, he already had a secure reputation, but as the school term, 1957-1958 ends, he continues to be thought of as a Most Cooperative, Christian Gentleman.

IN APPRECIATION

Thank you, Mr. Regan!

When one has most efficiently filled so many positions in the life of the Oxford Orphanage, it is not easy to find words to express the appreciation and gratitude he so richly deserves.

Think of the experience he has had! And how varied! Yet he has found in each something he has enjoyed and found rewarding. Variety makes life interesting, consequently, it is doubtful that Mr. Regan found many dull moments.

Having graduated from Elon College, he soon became a member of the Orphanage staff. Indeed, he has had the opportunity to learn about boys and girls, for since 1929, he has held these positions on the campus: coach of all boys' athletics, cottage counselor, Sunday school superintendent, high school teacher, director of the athletic program for the children, principal of John Nichols School, and now, full-time Assistant Superintendent of the Oxford Orphanage.

Mr. Regan succeeded Mr. D. S. Johnson in 1943 as principal of the John Nichols School, previously, he had taught in the high school department. In this capacity, he won the admiration and esteem of his teache s and pupils. Each knew he was a friend.

It is true that he is now in another office, but at the same time, members of the faculty and children in the classrooms can be assured of his very keen interest in the welfare of the school.

For all that he has meant to the school and continues to mean, we are deeply grateful, and wish for him much satisfaction in his service, for "Service is the noble proof of a noble life."

MRS. L. A. LIGON HONORED

On Saturday evening, February 22nd, Mrs. L. A. Ligon a member of the teaching staff at John Nichols High School, located on the campus at Oxford Orphanage, was the guest of honor at a delightful program in the York Rite Memorial Chapel

Mrs Ligon, who has been teaching here for thirty-three years was chosen "Teacher of the Year 1958" in Oxford and Granville County The selection was made by committees from the Oxford Womans' Club, the Intermediate Womans' Club and the Junior Womans' Club

HONOR WELL DESERVED AND SPLENDIDLY PLACED

Had nominations been acceptable from the entire state, it is unlikely that a more worthy candidate for Teacher of the Year honor in Oxford and Granville County could have been revealed than is found in the person of Mrs. L. A. Ligon of John Nichols School.

Mrs. Ligon richly deserves the honor and the attendent recognition. In 33 years of teaching, the entire time at the Oxford Orphanage, she has touched the lives of considerably more than 500 in graduating classes and a far greater number in her other school duties.

With a faint smile and a twinkle of appreciation in her eye, and in characteristic modesty, Mrs. Ligon undoubtedly would insist that it was her "good students" which had crowned her teaching efforts. But these who have had the good for tune to know Mrs. Ligon as teacher are aware that her interest in her profession, her keen sense of devotion to duty, her willingness to sacrifice time and personal pleasure to help boys and girls in her school with their scholastic problems and with their extra-curricular undertakings have earned for her respect and everlasting gratitude.

In her teachings and in her learning, altruism has been her ideal. She has been a steadying manaence upon less expendenced teaching contemporaries and an inspiration to her students.

We join the Woman's Clubs in their salute to Mrs. Ligon as Teacher of the Year. The honor is well deserved and splendidly placed.

INTO SPACE WE TRAVEL

A little while before we travel into space,
We fain would linger 'mongst deserted halls,
Remembering each familiar, friendly face,
Musing o'er joys, we knew within these walls.

A little while we'd stop, to think once more
Of that momentous day four years ago,
When we as freshmen, approached John Nichols door
Scare dreaming how much we'd someday know.

A little while we fain would linger yet Recalling hours of victory so sweet, Yet blending with our pride a vague regret For those rare times we faced defeat.

A little while before we call' well done'
Our training for the tasks we have to meet,
We'd like to retrace some steps once more,
And smooth out all the things left incomplete.

A little while before we leave our school
And teachers who have given their best,
We'd like to prove our worth to carry on
The principles of living they have stressed.

A little while then into the great, wide space
We carry our motto "Worse than a quitter is one who does not try."

May these words encourage us when trials we face, And direct us to success as time goes by.

A little while we'd like to pause—and try to tell
The depth of gratitude that swells our hearts today.
To all we give sincerest thanks, then say—"Farewell."
Graduation has come! We must be on our way!

Meteor Dust

Today we hear a lot about motion particles and the effect they have on rockets and satclities and their pushes effect on space travel in the years ahead. Not many meteers have been found here or, eith and this that have been found have been studied extensively in an effort to find our about its past and the atmosphere from which it came. From this it do not at a firm experiments and testings, much has been brought to ght, while anch is yet to be revealed. In other words from these studies, some things have been found out, and some have not.

We as a class have a past. Most things we are happy to tell you about, but there are some things we do not wish to reveal, so let's call our past "Meteor Dust."

Or Sentenber 8, 164 forty three eager freshmen entered John Nich is High School. What a div in our lives I remember districtly the sert of pitting glances that we releved from the apperclassmen as they met as in the halls and on the campus. We were inder the gradient of the Principa. Mr. E. T. Regan, A so to help is obtain our goal were M. M. G. Talton, Jr., with a egit a., Mr. Homer Thompson, general science. Mr. Thomas B. Currin, civies, and Miss Bonnie McRae, English, and also our home room teacher.

As class leaders we had Marie Sheffield, as president; Norman Cook, vice-president; Jackie Jones, secretary, and Dalma Evans, treasurer.

Mr. Thompson and Mr. Talton were our football and baseball coaches. Dalma Evans and Bobby Bradshaw represented us on the football team, and in baseball, we had Dalma.

In the Student Council, Marie Sheffield was treasurer, and Troy Regan, our representative.

Oh, yes, we discovered our class also had dramatic ability, too, when Marie Sheffeld, Trok Region and Daima Evans, were selected for parts in the high school play, "Miss Adventure."

Our first year ended, with the greater part of "Freshmen greenness" in the past, and with a beginning of a touch of wisdom.

In our sophomore year we had a class roll of twenty-eight. The upperclassmen were more considerate of us this year. We began to find our activity interests and to fit into the swing of the overall school program.

Our home room teacher, Mr. Talton, again found us looking for further algebraic knowledge Others to rend a helping hand we e. Mr. Homer Thompson, in biology, Mrs. Ligon, Latin; and Mrs. Robert Davis, English. Miss McRae had decided to change her name to Mrs. Davis.

Our class officers were Jackie Jones, president; Dalma Evans, vice-president; Troy Regan, secretary, and Grace Holland, treasurer.

Now that we were more experienced, why couldn't we do some public speaking, too? Thus we began, and as a result Troy Regan received honorable mention.

Who knows what time may tell! The Class of '58 could have a movie star some day, for in the second year, Troy Regan is again on the stage, this time in "Dimples." How lovely in the lady's outfit! Virginia Morrisette carried out her part in splendid style, too.

In the field of sports we had Jimmy Snider, Dalma Evans, and Bobby Bradshaw on the footbal team. On the guis' basketral team we firmished Jackie Jones. Max ne Capps Ze da Upon Joh, and Guise Holland Jimmy Cox and Dalma Evans were on the boys' basketball team.

Almost to the top now! Only two more years to go! Now our number had dwindled to twenty-three members.

Mr. Thomas B. Currin was our home room teacher, also instructed us in our social studies. Mr. Talton came forth with geometry. We never knew there was so much connected with thanges progress and careles. Then we had to face Caesar in all his Gallic campaigns, with Mrs. Ligon as our guide. She also carried us on a more familiar field. English Typing was reasy something new, but Miss Betsy Burnette knew how to introduce the subject. On first thought, how would we learn to type without letters on the keys! Well, the question was answered.

This year our class officers were Dalma Evans, president (How about a change after the women had presided the past two years!); Norman Cook, vice-president, Grace Holland, secretary; and Jimmy Cox, treasurer.

Our junior year was a period of activity. Members of our class participated in football bask thall and baseba. On the football squad we had Bobby Bradshay, Dal-ma Evans, Jimmy Cox, Charles Burton, Norman Cook, Troy Regan, Joe Finch, Wayne Edwards, Jackie Barnes, Frank McMillan, and Frank Forehand. On the girls' team were Odelle Wilson, Patsy Barger, Maxine Capps, and Grace Holland. Jimmy Cox, Charles Burton, Dalma Evans, and Troy Regan were on the Boys' team.

In the Nettie N. Bemis Club, Charles Burton was vice-president and Patsy Barger was secretary.

Selection of marshals is based upon scholarship, consequently, five of our class really received honor in this respect, for Dalma Evans was chief, along with Norman Cook, Jimmy Cox, Troy Regan, and Grace Holland, as ushers.

The National Honor Society was organized this year, and Jackie Barnes, Charles Burton, Troy Regan and Norman Cook accepted invitations for membership.

In the World Peace Speaking Program, the key was won by Charles Burton. He had previously received honorable mention in the Boys' Recitation Contest.

Now just one year remained between us and our goal. At last we were seniors, with twenty-one enrolled.

Since Mr. Regan was to give full time as Assistant Superintendent of the Oxford Orphanage, it was necessary that another be secured for principalship of our school. We were most fortunate in having the successor already in our school. Mr. Thomas B. Currin was elected. Of course, we regreted losing Mr. Regan, but Mr. Currin has made us an excellent leader, and we wish for him a most successful future in the work.

Mrs. L. A. Ligon became our home room teacher. Others helping to give us the finishing touch in high school were Mr. Talton, with business arithmetic; Miss Stainback, chemistry, and Mr. Smith, history.

Our class officers were Norman Cook, president; Patsy Barger, vice-president; Grace Holland, secretary, and Jimmy Cox, treasurer.

Bobby Bradshaw and Dalma Evans were co-captains of the football team, while Jimmy Cox, Charles Burton, Joe Finch, Norman Cook, Wayne Edwards, Frank McMillan, Frank Forehand, and Troy Regan were members of the team. On the basketball team were Jimmy Cox, Charles Burton, and Troy Regan. On the baseball team were Charles Burton, captain, and Jimmy Cox, co-captain. The girls' basketball team was led by co-captains Odelle Wilson, and a junior, Newassa Taylor. Others playing on the varsity team were Maxine Capps, Patsy Barger, and Grace Holland.

Track was introduced as a new sport on the campus, and Bobby Bradshaw, Troy Regan, Charles Burton, and Jimmy Cox were active participants.

Troy Regan was elected president of the Student Council, along with representatives. Bobby Bradshaw and Charles Burton.

In the Senior Recitation-Declamation Contest, Troy Regan won the Oxford Kiwanis Club Medal for "Ole King Sollermun," while Virginia Morrisette received honorable mention with "Billy's Rose."

Grace Holland was selected as the "Betty Crocker Homemaker of Tomorrow" in the contest given only to senior girls. She received a beautiful award.

Those participating in the senior play "Calm Yourself" were Troy Regan, Maxine Capps, Patsy Payeli, Patsy Banger, Odene Wason Jie Finch, Bobby Bradshaw Jimmy Cox, Grace Holland, and Charles Burton.

The Junior-Senior Banquet and Dance will long be remembered as a most delight-ful occasion.

Other positions held by seniors this year were: Troy Regan, president; Frank Forehand, vice-president; Charles Burton, secretary, and Barbara Walton, treasurer, in the G.B. Summers Club; Grace Holland, president; Troy Regan, vice-president, of the Future Teachers Club; Bobby Bradshaw, president, and Patsy Powell, vice-president in the Glee Club.

A new club, the Math Club, came into being this year, with Charles Burton as president and Norman Cook, vice-president.

A very high honor was bestowed upon our class when Charles Burton was declared winner of an Aubrey Lee Brooks Scholarship. Troy Regan had also been chosen as one of the finalists.

Then came final examinations, and now our class exercises, and the receiving of dip on as. We have attained the tip most round on our tiph school ladder, but there are mirry who have been all along the way to ginde our steps and see that each may was eached with steady footing. To these we are most gratef and in departing, from the depths of our hearts, we say "Thank You." As we climb the ladder labeled "Future", may we prove ourselves worthy of every kindness you have shown.

FALLOUT

Ever since the first atomic bombs were dropped during World War II there has been much said and written about the damage done by "Fallout" or radiation when a bomb is exploded. I think that everyone agrees that every precaution should be taken when fir no nombs to control famout and lessen as much as possible its harmful effects.

The John Nichols High School Class of 1958 is about to explode a powerful bomb, so to speak We are about to dispose of a lour worldly possessions and to avoid my harmful or hurtful "Fallouts" we are submitting to you our last will and testament. We would not want a single item to fall into the wrong hands or in any way cause trouble for anyone. We tried to be just, as well as generous and impartial.

We hereby transfer into your possession the following items and articles and ask that you accept them as sacred trusts from those of us who have gone on before.

To our beloved faculty who has labored and worried, we trust not altogether in vain that we might be exposed to the cathia and intellectual phases of life, we give and be reach all the capit the, and interest to the amazing, starting, and wor dishaking answers in the have so generously given them from time to time on our examination papers.

We give and bequeath to the Junior Class our pep, our enthusiasm, and all our about in the find of leadership. We also leave to you all our secret formulas for getting by without studying too much.

To the Sophomores of next year, we have nothing we think they would accept, for when students reach that temperamental, fighty and paffed up state, it is difficult for them to properly evaluate or care for any of our valued and treasured possessions.

To the Freshmen Class to be, we give and bequeath a small portion of our poise and our sophistication.

The following may seem to some to be but trifling bequests, but we hope and trust that the, may be accepted, not as worthless things to be thrown to the four winds, but as valuable assets, eith in sentimental value, to those who may receive them, and most of all may they be a constant reminder of generosity.

Frank McMillan leaves to W. R. Warren his ability to get along with Shirley Ellis. May he be as successful.

To Clydie Gibbs Maxine Capps leaves her red hed room shoes. She should get ong wear from them, for Max has never used them.

To Ibn Heitington, Norman Cook leaves his ball point pen Din had let him borrow the pen once during the school term.

Barbara Walton leaves to Clairene Graham all her excess weight, and hopes that she can continue eating like a pig and still stay slender.

Emogene Frady eaves to her sister, Geraldine, her diary and key, and to Christine, she leaves her bed and dormitory friends.

Jimmy tox caves to Harry (ope his best Perhaps Harry has already worn it out, for Jimmy never had the use of it, because of its being borrowed.

Odelle Wilson leaves to Shirley Wilson the Number 12 basketball suit and hopes Shirley will be able to accomplish more than she did.

To Susan Pargoe, Patsy Powell leaves her ability to get out of bed at 6:00 a.m. in order to get to her work in the dining room on time.

To Newassa Taylor and Shirley Duck, Virginia Morrisette leaves the memories of their many quarrels as well as their happy days in the first dormitory: to her brother than es, her love respect, and appreciation for the John Nichols faculty, and to Sher a Read, the duty ironing all the boys' white shirts on Wednesdays.

To Bobby McLendon and Larry Mumford, Bobby Bradshaw leaves his old "white shoes". He hopes that they will enjoy them as much as be has enjoyed them.

Carl Jones leaves to his brother, Walter Lee, his old "58" Ford. Perhaps he will enjoy school better.

Billy Ray White wills to Jerry White has ability to skip school.

Grace Holland leaves to Sara Finch and Lynda Crabtree her ability to flirt. Grace says it takes time and patience to become an expert, thus, with her assistance they might accomplish more and in less time. She has a pillow she would like to leave Clairene Graham to cry on when Jimmy graduates.

Frank Forehand leaves to Dennis Harrison his job as Miss Hobson's "right hand man".

Patsy Barger leaves to Sara "Kat" and Lind "Lucy" the responsibility of keeping all stray animals well fed that come about the kitchen. No mention is made of the expense involved.

Wayne Edwards leaves to Newassa Taylor his "beaten up" radio.

Since Terry Herrington has practically taken possession of Joe Finch's bed any way, Joe has decided to leave it to him.

Troy Regan bequeaths to Cabell his king-size track shoes because he knows that Cabell will be the only one with feet big enough to wear them.

Kay James leaves to Carolyn James and Carolyn Almond her love for James Fisher at 313 North Main St., in Henderson.

If Norman Cook were not graduating, he would inherit Charles Burton's part of the second dormitory, but this being the case, that es feels that I conard Mobiev and Don Herrington should be joint he is, since they have already occupied it more than he did.

To our little mascot, we leave our very best wishes for a long and happy life.

All the residue of our property of whatever nature, kind, quality, or quantity, not atherwise disposed of, we give and bequeath to our beloved Class Sponsor. We further request and pray the court that said Sponsor be made sole executor of this, our last will and testament.

In Testimony whereof, the Class of 1958 have to this instrument, subscribed our name and affixed this seal, third day of June, 1958 A. D.

Signed: The Senior Class of 1958.

DESTINATION—MOON

You will agree that we are living in a new age where anything can happen—even a trip to the moon. Now I invite you to join me as I look twelve years into the future and see how the Class of '58 is orbiting.

As we look in on Charles Burton, who was the tallest senior in our class, we find that he has given up engineering and has taken up politics. We see that he is now the popular mayor of New York City.

Orbiting out to the West coast we find that Odelle Wilson is now a millinery designer for one of the largest department stores in Los Angeles.

Carl Jones received an award recently for being the first round trip passenger to the moon.

Now let's take a look at the Capitol and see if we recognize anyone there. Aha! I thought so, to be sure you remember Maxine Capps who is now an outstanding politician and is expected to be elected President in the near future.

Well, Frank Forehand, was the first senior to make a fortune. He was Elvis Presley's successor in the teen-age entertainment world and is now retired without a financial worry in the world.

As I thumbed through the newspaper this morning, I thought I saw a familiar name. Why, it should be familiar because it was Emogene Frady in her syndicated column of advice to the Love Lorn.

As we orbit around, we see another familiar figure, Bobby Bradshaw, who owns a chain of Electrical Repair Shops located in all the principal cities in the United States, with Patsy Powell as his business manager.

I understand that Kay James is now touring the world as a concert pianist and that she will make an appearance soon in her old home town, Oxford.

Norman Cook, the handsomest of our class, is now a very successful designer of women's clothes. I am advised that he is working hard to kill the sack-look.

Of course you remember Billy Ray White, the boy who worked after school in Roses Five and Ten. Well, he now owns a chain of dime stores throughout the South. You can't say he didn't work his way up.

As we take a look at the doings in Hollywood, Patsy Barger is also prospering. She now has an ever-expanding business of training animals for the stage.

The other night I turned on the radio and heard Virginia Morrisette singing on the Firestone Hour. I wasn't surprised that she had reached fame for "Little Buttercup" was highly praised in our spring concert in 1958.

Joe Finch and Wayne Edwards now own an exclusive shoe store for men in New York City. Their earlier training has really paid off.

Looking into the entertainment world we find that Grace Holland has the leading part in a popular T. V. Soap Box Opera.

Frank McMillan, the oldest in our class, is now a very successful and wealthy toy manufacturer.

Jimmy Cox, who worked in the Printing Shop, is now the managing editor of the New York Daily News, which I understand has a greater circulation than the Orphans' Friend and Masonic Journal.

One girl has stayed with the Olde Home through the years. Why, of course, she is Barbara Walton, who is now chief cook and bottle washer in the cafeteria.

As we take a glance at the sports world we find that Troy Regan is the owner and manager of a major baseball team in the American League.

Now that I have given information about my classmates, I, too, shall join them in the future with our destination moon.

OUR FAREWELL TO THE SENIORS

You'll Never Walk Alone

When you walk through a storm, keep your chin up high

And don't be afraid of the dark,

At the end of the storm is a golden sky

And the sweet silver song of a lark.

Walk on through the wind,

Walk on through the rain,

Tho' your dreams be tossed and blown-

Walk on, walk on, with hope in your heart,

And you'll never walk alone-

You'll never walk alone!

OUR SOPHOMORE YEAR

As we end this school year, we would like to say "Congratulations, Mr. Currin. We think you have made us a fine principal!"

Mr. Talton has been our home room teacher, as well as our algebra teacher. Others who have helped us along were Miss Stainback, in biology; Coach Smith, history; and Mrs. Ligon, in Latin and English.

Our class leaders have been: Norman Ward, president; Sheila Read, vice-president; Billy Cox, secretary, and Shirley Duck, treasurer.

An outstanding honor came to our class was the selection of Sheila Read to attend the Junior Science Symposium held at Duke University, University of North Carolina, and N. C. State College.

Participating in the Boys' Declamation Contest were Harry Cope and David Lee Bryant. In the Girls' Recitation Contest were Shirley Duck, who received honorable mention, Sheila Read, and Shirley Ellis.

We had three members in the Student Council: Frank Deal, secretary, Jeff Pargoe and Jimmy Glasgow, representatives.

In the Hallowe'en Carnival, Sara Finch and Mark Stamatakes won in the popularity contest.

In the high school play "Teen Antics", we were very pleased with the acting of Shirley Duck, Sheila Read, and Margie Rose. In fact, we would say they portrayed the characters in excellent style.

We have had three cheer leaders from our class: Sara Finch, Randayle Chappell, and Shirley Ellis.

We have had many interested in football, basketball, baseball, and track, and a large number have participated in our literary and glee clubs.

Examinations will soon be here—these will determine whether any will try the tenth grade a second time. We hope not. Let's go on!

FRESHMAN YEAR

Well, chillun, we'll tell you; This year for us ain't been no crystal stair, It's had science in it, And literature, And civies shook up, And algebra with no answers in the book-Bare. Extra activities with no time to -Spare. But all the time We'se been a-climbin' on, And reachin' tests, And turnin' homework, And sometimes goin' in the dark Where there ain't been no light. So, chillun, don't you turn back. Don't you set down on the steps 'Cause you finds it kinder hard. Don't you fail now-For we'se still goin', chillun, We'se still climbin'.

And this year for us ain't no crystal stair.

The final score was 19-7 in favor of Graham.

OXFORD ORPHANAGE 13—OXFORD HIGH 7

The Red Devils won their second victory against three defeats when they edged Oxford High by the score of 13 to 7. The rivals battled a vicious game and the Wildcats did better than expected. The first touchdown was run over by Harold McLendon in the second half. When the situation was getting desperate, Jim Cox caught a pass from Larry Mumford and saved the game. The game was played before the home-coming crowd on Oxford High's Field.

ROANOKE RAPIDS 25—OXFORD ORPHANAGE 0

October 25 the Red Devils suffered their fourth defeat at the hands of the Roanoke Rapids team. The flu-ridden Red Devil team lacked the spark to make a go of it against the strong opposition of the rival team. This game was non conference and was played on the home field of Roanoke Rapids. There was much coughing to be heard on the field that night as most of the Red Devils had suffered from the effects of the flu. The final score of 25-0 indicated an easy victory for Roanoke Rapids.

VARSITY BASKETBALL

Our basketball season was not the best that could be had but it seems to have given valuable experience for the coming basketball year. We had only three seniors on the team. They were Troy Regan, 6' 1'2" forward, Jimmy Cox, 6' 1" forward, and Charles Burton, 6' 2" center.

Next year the squad will consist of these rising seniors: Larry Mumford, Harold McLendon, Paul Tausch, Wayne Jones, and Roy Wiestling. Jeff Pargoe and Harry Cope will be upholding the Junior Class.

The junior varsity team will be able to supplement Coach Smith's team. Such boys as Bill Cox. Jammy Glasgow, Ed Loftis, James Bullock, Earl Bryant, Mickey Fenn, and Jerry Evans should do some good work.

As the seniors bid farewell, we wish Coach Smith and the Red Devils the very best of luck.

BOYS' JUNIOR-VARSITY BASKETBALL

We began our basketball program with seventh, eighth, and ninth grade boys, but in order to enter the Pony League, we moved up to ninth and tenth grades. Many of the boys show promise as varsity contenders next year, and most of the younger boys show considerable improvement after this year of experience. Basketball is becoming more popular now and the boys are enjoying it more every year.

VARSITY BASEBALL

We began our baseball season inside the gymnasium this year with twenty candidates reporting for practice. Of these only three were lettermen from last year, so practically every position was open from beginning. Despire much bad weather we played nine of our ten regularly scheduled games. We will not lose a single player by graduation this year, thus we are looking to next year with a great deal of hope for better things to come.

VARSITY TRACK

For the first time since 1934 Oxford Orphanage has track. Under the able supervision of Coach Bill Smith, the Red Devils started the track season the second week in March. We did not have much success, this being our first year, but I am sure that as we develop skill we will have better luck. However, two of our team were qualified for the State Meet which was held at the University of North Carolina, May 17. The two were LaRoy Wiestling running the half-mile, and Troy Regan running the mile.

FUN ON THE TRAMPOLINE

The latest addition to the equipment at the Recreation Center at Oxford Orphanage is a tramponne, and is furnishing lots of fun and healthy exercise for our boys and girls. In the picture above, Joe Gardner, an eighth grade student, is shown doing some fancy bouncing around.

Trampoline is a word that has been known in the circus world for years. It comes down to us from the Italian word "trampoli," which means performing acrobatic feats on stilts, and the Spanish word "trampolin" meaning a diving board. It was first manufactured in the United States by George Nissen in 1936, and is valuable to circus acrobats in performing various feats of tumbling.

HAVE YOU HEARD THIS?

- Mr. McSwain said to Charles King, "What is the capitol of North Carolina?"
- Charles made a guess, "Raleigh."
- Edward Loftis, laughing, whispered, "Mr McSwain, he thinks it is Raleigh."
- One Sunday afternoon, a girl from Greensboro came who liked Don Herrington very much, but Don was not interested in her. She came up to Don and asked, "Are you Don Herrington?"
- Don replied, "No! I'm Terry." (Terry is Don's brother.)
- DAVID LEE: "Mr. Smith scolded me because I didn't know where the Great Lakes were."
- HARRY COPF: "Well, next time remember where you put things."
- Margie Rose, who is from the mountains of North Carolina was on her way to the Orphanage. She had to stop over in Winston-Salem for the night. It was the first time she had ever been in a hotel and the bellhop took her bags and went to the elevator.
- Margie, flaring up: "I won't take this room! I'm not paving for a measly little room like this! Just because I'm from the mountains, you can't—"
- The bellhop interrupted, "Madam, this isn't your room. This is the elevator."
- Some day the great biologist, Leslie Albertson, will announce he has at last found the female earthworm for which he went in search of in 1957.
- CARL JONES, "Joe, stop making ugly faces at that bulldog. It isn't a nice thing to do,"
- JOE FINCH, "Well, he started it!"
- FRANK FOREHAND, "Say, this wide-screen movie is swell, isn't it?"
- TROY REGAN, "Sure is. Let me know if anything exciting is happening on your side."

When the seniors went on the picnic, given by our little mascot, Anne Pruitt, Bobby Bradshaw was casting with a rod and reel with all his might. He caught something and found it was Pasty Barger. Scratching his head, he said, "I have heard of this, but it is the first time I have ever caught a real horse."

Peggy Walton and Bud Noell were sitting on the lawn one Sunday afternoon.

Peggy (in a romantic tone), "I love you!"

Bud replied, "Me, too!"

CLAIRENE: "When I go to bed at night I see yellow and green lights."

PAUL: "Have you seen a doctor?"

CLAIRENE: "No. just yellow and green lights."

Mr. McSwain was walking to work one day when Mike Regan walked up and asked him what made his hair black. He replied that he didn't know. Mike said, "You must drink a lot of cococola, and do you know what makes mine white?"

Mr. McSwain said, "No."

Mike answered that he drank a lot of milk.

Highway Patrol: "Madam, do you know that you were going 101 miles per hour?"

KAY JAMES: "Yes, I saw the limit sign a while back."

Highway Patrol: I'm glad I caugh you before you got to # 301."

Clydie Gibbs, reading the menu to Sara Finch, "Oh, gosh, Sara, we got pinto-cheese! (Supposed to have pimento cheese.)

NORMAN WARD: "I hear Frank Deal is in love with Shirley Dover."

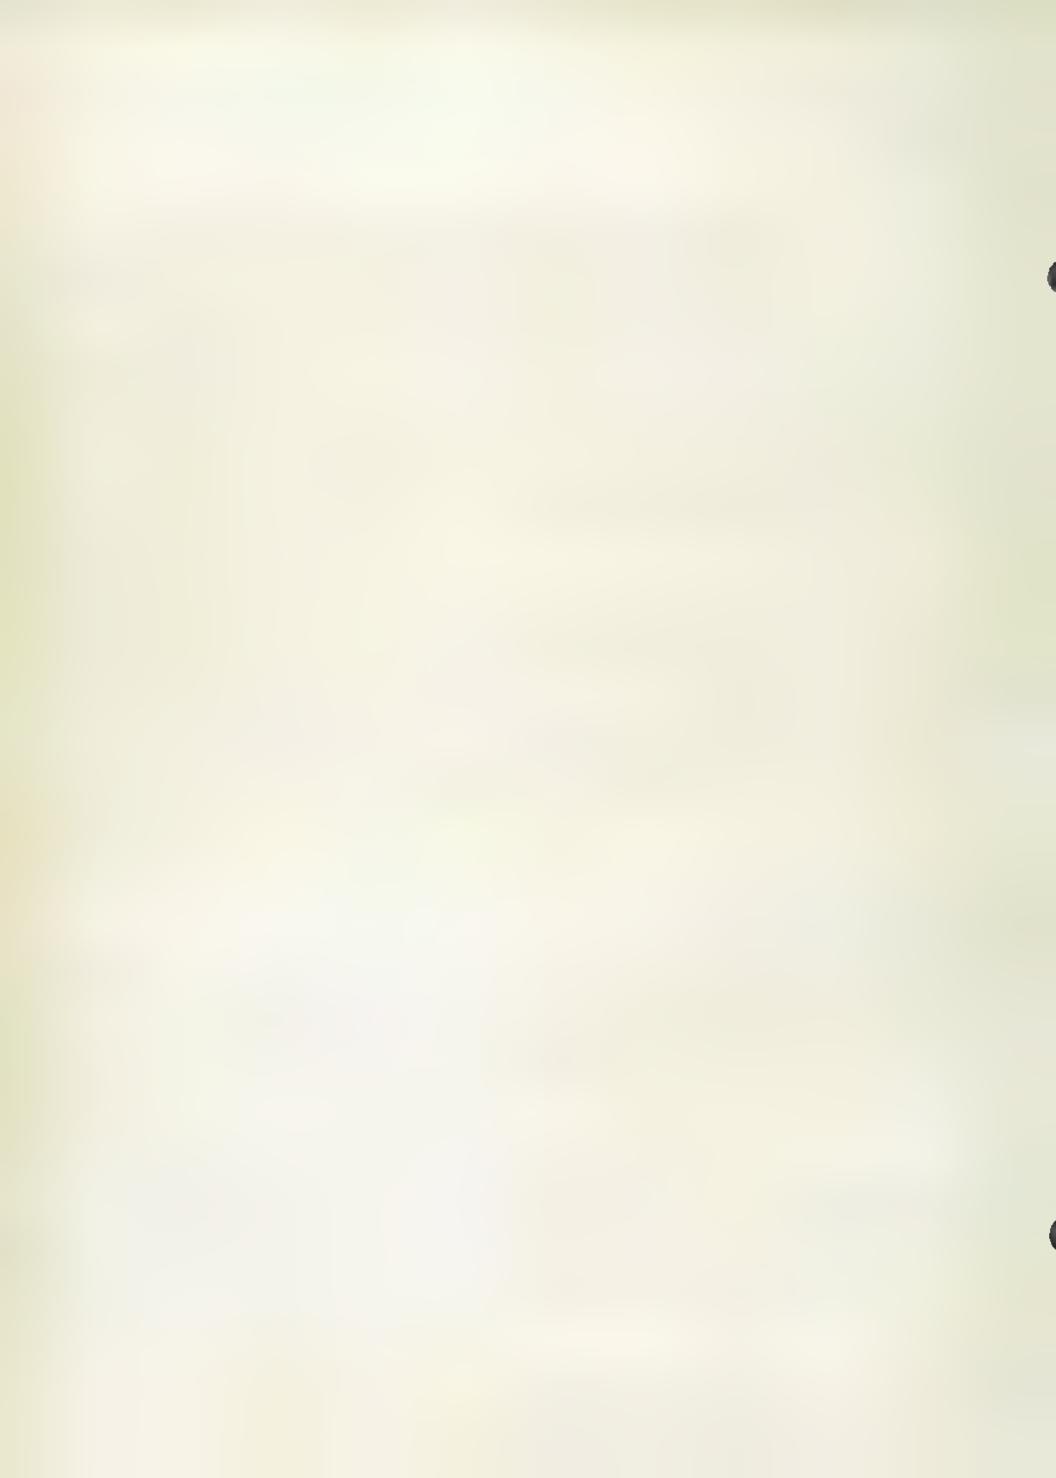

DAVID LEE BRYANT: "Why don't you get under the sink with the rest of the pipes?"

Who said King Authur was born in North Carolina? Somebody did.
